

ORSINA SFORZA

LIGHTS

UBU / LONDON

Orsina Sforza's new collection will be on show at the UBU Gallery in London, from 11th to 30th October 2013.

Born in Milan, Orsina Sforza is originally a painter. She lives and works in Rome. Over the last two decades, she has been creating luminous sculptures.

All are unique, hand-crafted pieces, using only the simplest materials - paper, hand-sewn fabric, common household artefacts (rubber gloves, doilies, cleaning cloths, stitched oil paper).

The 2013 collection shows her latest work. Each light has its own title and gender, shining a gentle light through colourful folds and draperies.

The festive Marie Antoinette series moves in sumptuous, unpredictable shapes echoing primitive sea creatures or giant meringues. Candid Nijinsky's immaculate petals glitter like a cold fire and The Bernini series simply coruscates.

Orsina Sforza's lights have sold all over the world and at auction.
